Out of the Casserole.

The question that confronts every good housekeeper is, how can the preparation of food be made easier? The casserole will do this to a large extent, and not only will it use lighter oil but, and best of all, it will simplify service in the dining-room.

We can put our casserole possibilities in two groups, as we do our sautéed dishes. On the one hand we have an uncooked food that has been previously cooked. Tender meat is not essential for casserole cooking, and any meat too tough to roast can be rendered tender and delicious with the long, slow cooking in the casserole. An inexpensive dish, but one that is rich in flavor and juicy, from the neck or shank, is good for this purpose. This can be made into a very satisfactory main dinner dish.

A few suggestions in the cooking of meats in the casserole may be helpful. Out the meat into pieces and sear them on top of the stove. Have the vegetables to be used barboiled, the potatoes cut in cubes, the carrots in long strips, and the onions in slices. First sauté the barboiled vegetables in a little fat for about five minutes, then put in the casserole and pour over all enough stock or boiling water to half-cover the ingredients. Season and cook till the meat is tender. The vegetables will absorb the sauce in casserole cooking. A dash of tomato catch up gives a little life to your meat dish, or, if the meat is in favor of the vegetables, a dash of Worcestershire sauce will enhance the flavor.

Vegetables of pronounced flavor are better suited to the heavier meats, such as beef and pork, onions, peppers, carrots and turnips combine nicely, while peas, corn, and string-beans make a better combination with chicken and lamb.

For those housewives who do not have made, and in entering the kitchen the difficult part of meal preparation out of the way before company comes, the following suggestions may be helpful:

Escalloped Sweetbreads. Cut two pairs of sweetbreads in pieces, after they have been soaked in cold water for fifteen minutes and allowed to stand in boiling water for ten minutes. Wash, boil, and cut in quarters one cup of mushrooms. Sauté them with the sweetbreads in two tablespoons of butter or margarine, add two tablespoons of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika, and cook one minute longer. Then add two and three-fourths cups of top milk, or half milk and half cream, and cook several minutes. Pour into a casserole dish and sprinkle the top with one-half cup of dried bread-crumbs and two tablespoons of butter in small bits. Brown in 500° F. oven for twelve minutes.

For Lobster and Mushrooms in Casserole, wash, peel, and sauté one pound of mushrooms. Sauté them with the lobster in four tablespoons of butter. Add three tablespoons of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika. Cook about five minutes. Then add gradually one and one-half cups of milk and one-half cup of cream, and cook several minutes. Pour into a casserole dish and sprinkle the top with one-half cup of dried bread-crumbs and two tablespoons of butter in small bits. Brown in 500° F. oven for twelve minutes.

Often left-overs can be made as delicious as first appearances. A delicious supper or luncheon dish can be prepared in the following manner with left-over salmon or tuna fish. Sauté one-half of a small onion, minced, and one small green pepper, chopped fine, in two tablespoons of butter or margarine. Add to two cups of cooked and flaked fish. Mix in lightly two cups of strained, cooked tomatoes, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper. Put in a greased casserole, and bake at 350° F. for twelve minutes.

For Bread and Cheese in Casserole, spread three medium slices of bread, having the crusts removed, with one tablespoonful of butter. Put in a buttered casserole and add one cupful of grated cheese. Add three eggs well beaten, and one-fourth cup of milk. Worcestershire sauce to two and one-half cups of milk. Add this to the bread and cheese. Allow the mixture to stand half an hour, then bake for twenty minutes at 375° F., having the casserole covered but for the last five minutes.

For Rice and Meat in Casserole, add two teaspoonfuls of minced onion, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper to two cups of cooked rice. Cook until the rice is tender, then add one cup of meat, one cup of milk, and one-half cup of cream. Cook until the mixture thickens, then serve.

For a delicious supper dish, drain one cupful of canned corn, and chop it fine. Add to this two egg-yolks well beaten, Sauté one-half a green pepper, minced, and one tablespoonful of minced onion, in two tablespoons of butter, and add to the above mixture with one teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika. Fold one cupful of steamed rice into the corn mixture very lightly, with a fork. Turn into a buttered casserole, sprinkling one-fourth cupful of dried cheese on the mixture as a center layer, and one-fourth cupful of grated cheese on top. Bake at 350° F. for twelve minutes.

Discoveries in and about the House.

Emergency Hot Water Bottles—If you have no hot water bottles at hand, try filling Mason jars with hot water. You will find it an excellent substitute.

Children's Coats—It would how many mothers know that children's chinchilla coats can be cleaned at home. I first found a way when my brother took a small son to a football game and gave him a coat of candy. The front of the coat looked as if it could never be cleaned. However, I put the coat on the ironing board, and using soap flakes, went over it with a small scrubbing brush. Next, using clear warm water and a cloth, I went over it again. Finally, I rubbed it dry with another cloth. Since then that coat has had many scrubbing, and each time come out like new. Even after the nap had worn off in places, it fluffed up and remained and improved the appearance.

More Drawer Space—Drawer space is scarce in my household, and so I have devised a means of getting more efficient use of what I have. In the front of each deep drawer I took a strip of pocket as deep as the drawer, and with compartments of different widths. In the pockets I keep the children's handkerchiefs, stockings, soft collars, folded neckties, ribbons, and the other small things that make hopeless confusion unless they are kept in boxes or drawers. However, I put the coat on the ironing board, and using soap flakes, went over it with a small scrubbing brush. Next, using clear warm water and a cloth, I went over it again. Finally, I rubbed it dry with another cloth. Since then that coat has had many scrubbing, and each time come out like new. Even after the nap had worn off in places, it fluffed up and remained and improved the appearance.

To Adjust Shoulder Straps—Now that the dresses are out low at the shoulders, it is quite difficult to keep lingerie from showing even when the use of lingerie clasps. A good remedy is to make a narrow strap, strap your arms around (about an inch and a half wide), and sew one end near the neck of the shoulder and the other end across the back, thus holding the straps through this and snap, thus holding them in place.

Baby's Door Knob—I have saved many a nap by nailing an empty spoon full enough on the outside of the screen door for my baby to reach when on the porch.

Wrestling Attracts Many at Columbia.

Students at Columbia University are taking keen interest in wrestling and under the direction of Coach Gus Peterson, the Blue and White wrestling team is in splendid shape for intercollegiate matches.

Shenandoah After Battle With Gale.

The delightful Shenandoah had a terrific battle with a 72 mile gale, when it was torn from its moorings. The men of the crew have a story to tell which is undoubtedly unparalleled in aviation history. Photo shows a bow view of the nose of the dirigible, which is partly torn away.

The Girl of the Golden West.

Miss Donna Glover, who shows how the girl of the Golden West rides her racing, sporting Mustang, Miss Glover was one of the many cow girls who participated in the recent Hollywood, arranged in honor of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of Treasury.

Philadelphia's "Big Two."

Gen. Smedley D. Butler, Director of Public Safety, and Mayor F. W. Kendrick, upon whom the eyes of the world are centered. As a result of their straight-from-the-shoulder action there has been a general exodus of criminals from the city. In a recent drive against 1200 saloons, 975 were closed for selling illegal beverages.

Clean Picking. An enterprising coal dealer adopted for his slogan, which he printed on his bills, the following motto: "It's a black business, but we treat you white." A customer, on receiving his account recently for his supply of coal at the price of $22 per ton, enclosed his check in payment, and at the same time suggested that the merchant change his motto to read: "It's a dirty business, but we clean you good."

Would Take a Chance. A woman with a very bad cold attended a dinner and, although she had a poor appetite on this occasion, she was pressed to have some food. "Oh, do," they said for the tenth time. "I couldn't," she replied. "I couldn't possibly eat any more." They continued to press her to eat this dish and that, and at last she said: "Oh, very well; if I must I bust."

Great Discovery. The skinning of frog legs by an Italian scientist to make a soup for his sick wife led to a message of discovery that electricity can be generated by chemical means, which was the forerunner of the present-day primary battery.

Highest City in Europe. Madrid, in point of geographical elevation, is the highest city in Europe.
